

Arrow Energy

August 2019

Arrow has been delivering cleaner energy to industry and households since 2004.

About Arrow Energy

Arrow Energy is an integrated energy company.

We explore and develop gas fields, produce and sell coal seam gas (CSG) and generate electricity.

Arrow has been safely and sustainably developing CSG since 2000 and supplying it commercially since 2004.

The company is working to meet demand for cleaner burning fuels through gas supply.

Arrow is owned by Shell and PetroChina (50/50).

Current operations

Arrow owns and operates Braemar 2, a 450 MW gas-fired power station 35km southwest of Dalby, and has interests in two others – Daandine Power Station (west of Dalby) and Townsville Power Station.

Arrow's five gas fields are in the Bowen and Surat basins:

Moranbah Gas Project

The Moranbah Gas Project is a 50/50 joint venture with AGL Energy in the Bowen Basin. Located 170km west of Mackay, this field supplies gas to the Moranbah and Townsville power stations, as well as to industrial customers in north Queensland.

Tipton West

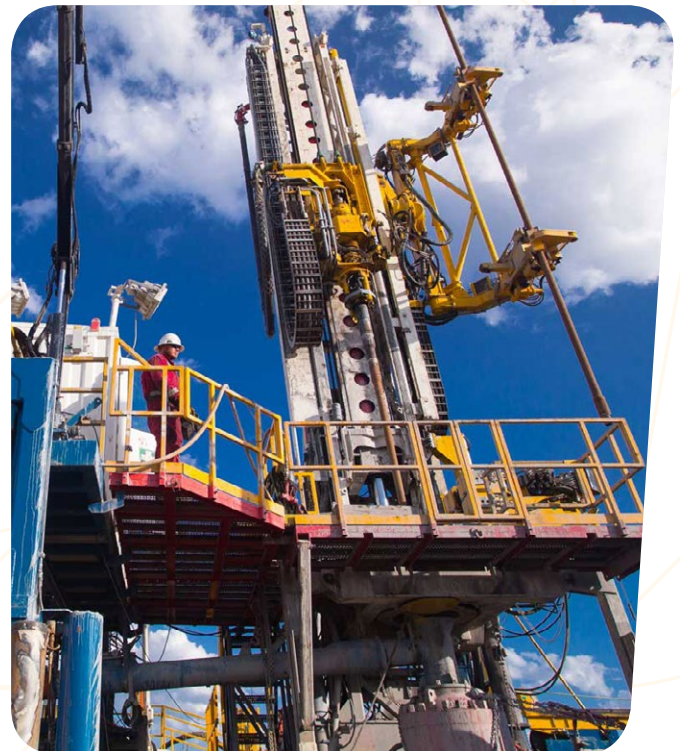

The Tipton West gas field is 20km south of Dalby and has been producing gas since September 2006. Tipton West supplies Braemar 1 and Braemar 2 power stations.

Kogan North

The Kogan North gas field is 40km west of Dalby and owned by a 50/50 joint venture between Arrow and Stanwell Corporation Ltd. The field has been producing gas since January 2006.

Daandine and Stratheden

The Daandine gas field is 40km west of Dalby and has been producing gas since September 2006. Arrow's Stratheden gas field, 20km north-west of Dalby, supplies gas to Braemar 2 Power Station.

Brighter Futures supports projects that build community capacity in health, safety, education and environment.

Commitment to the community

Arrow is committed to protecting and promoting the social and environmental values of the communities in which the company operates.

Since 2011, Arrow has invested more than $29 million in funding to community projects through its Brighter Futures community investment program.

Every day, the company is speaking with landholders, community groups, local businesses and government authorities to discuss shared concerns and opportunities.

Arrow has community information centres in Dalby and Moranbah where people can speak with staff about Arrow's activities.

Working with Arrow

Arrow has a high performance culture that embraces diversity and rewards hard work.

You'll work alongside some of the best people in the industry - people who view challenges as opportunities to adapt and improve.

You'll also be rewarded with competitive remuneration and benefits packages, development programs and corporate incentives.

Go further with your career by becoming part of the Arrow team.
