

Arrow Energy Project Update

JUNE 2025

News from Arrow

Arrow Energy is partnering with farming families to produce essential energy to power homes, businesses, and industries.

In a milestone for our Surat Gas Project (SGP), major works have commenced on Arrow's SGP North development near Miles.

Activities are also continuing in our SGP South development in the Kogan and Dalby areas.

As we develop the SGP, we are committed to sharing the benefits of our work with local communities in the Western Downs and Toowoomba regions.

Working with Arrow

"I've been able to grow better-than-average crops, with a better-than-average year, and still been able to have gas on my properties."

That's what Western Downs cotton farmer Dan Hayllor had to say about hosting Arrow infrastructure.

Hear more from Dan who is one of hundreds of farmers that Arrow is working with.

Arrow's beneficial water network

To increase water security for farmers and to help protect the environment, Arrow has commenced construction on a beneficial water network.

Farmers who have joined Arrow's Condamine Alluvium Substitution Scheme will exchange their alluvium water allocation for treated water.

The scheme will support farming operations through reliable water supply and benefit the environment with farmer participants to stop pumping from the alluvium, offsetting up to 7,000 megalitres of water annually.

First water will be delivered to farmer participants in the Nandi area in the second half of 2025.

Our upcoming activities

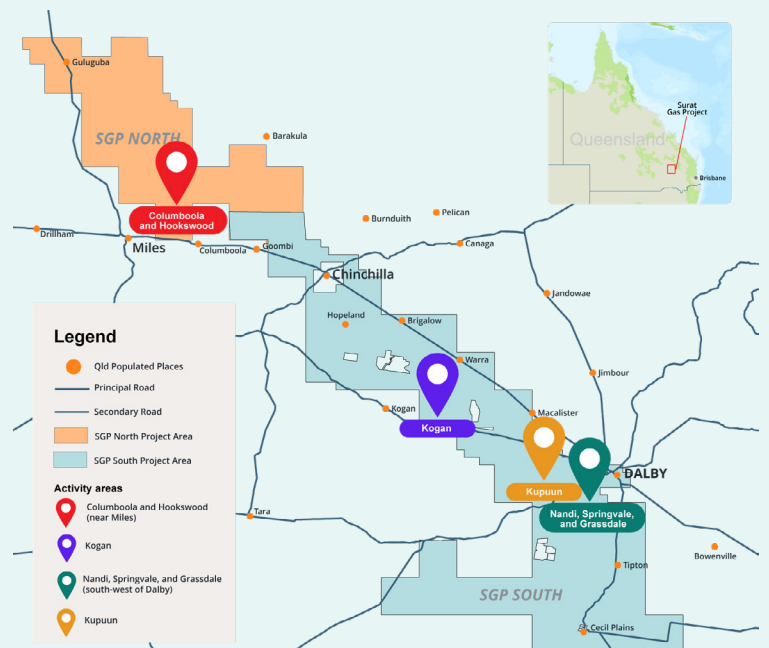

Arrow is currently carrying out activities near Miles, Dalby, and Kogan in Queensland's Western Downs as part of our Surat Gas Project.

Key activity areas are:

- Columboola and Hookwood
- Kogan North
- Nandi, Springvale, Grassdale, and Kupuun

Activities include road work, installation of water and gas pipelines, and construction and commissioning of gas wells on properties where Arrow has agreements in place with landholders.

Arrow in the community

We were delighted to recently support the Toowoomba and Surat Basin Enterprise's Chef's Table in Dalby.

The event celebrates the produce of the Western Downs and the farmers who make the region special.
