

Area Wide Planning

Area Wide Planning is a program Arrow Energy has developed to incorporate landholders' knowledge into its field development plans.

Landholders and Arrow work together to identify locations for infrastructure, such as well pads, gathering lines and access tracks, across farming districts and on flood plains. It strengthens Arrow's ability to coexist with agricultural activities.

Planning occurs one-on-one with landholders and, where appropriate, in local area meetings. Specific landholder agreements are formalised in Conduct and Compensation Agreements.

 = Direct discussion with landholder

Arrow produces a conceptual field development plan

- Arrow and landholder discuss:
- Arrow project layout objectives
 - Landholder constraints

Jointly identify potential layout solution

Arrow submits a land access request – Arrow can then commence field surveys, which help to verify the layout solution

Arrow confirms design and engineering of layout solution

Arrow and landholder agrees to a Conduct and Compensation Agreement

Arrow begins construction activities and prepares for field operations
