

Agricultural spraying and worker safety

February 2024

The safety of our community and staff is our number one priority.

We understand the importance of protecting your land from bio security risks.

We recognise that from time to time, farmers will use herbicides and pesticides to protect crops.

Application of these agricultural chemicals may be by ground or aerial spraying.

Due to weather conditions there could be a risk of over spray or spray drift onto neighbouring areas.

Help us protect our people

To help us protect the health and safety of our staff, we ask landholders to let us know about any planned spray activities on their property.

This will enable us to ensure our staff are not in the field at a time when they could be exposed to chemical spray.

Notify us of a spray event

To let us know you are planning to spray:

1. Please contact your Land Liaison Officer on their mobile number in the first instance.
2. If you are unable to speak to your Land Liaison Officer, please call or text us on 0427 490 053 and provide your contact details, landowner name, property location and the dates of the planned spraying activity.

We will notify our ground crew so they are aware of the planned spray event and take any required actions.
