Section 34 reporting table: to be used by suppliers for website publication of information relating to availability of gas

About the Gas Code

The Competition and Consumer (Gas Market Code) Regulations 2023 (the Gas Code) commenced on 11 July 2023. The Gas Code's purpose is to facilitate a well-functioning domestic wholesale gas market with adequate gas supply at reasonable prices and on reasonable terms for both suppliers and buyers. The Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC) monitors and enforces compliance with the Gas Code.

Section 34 of Part 6 sets out a requirement for suppliers to publish information relating to the availability of gas. This section is a civil penalty provision.

See section 46 of the Gas Code which sets out a deemed exemption from the requirement in section 34 of the Code for gas EOIs issued in respect of 2 or fewer persons.

The ACCC has made determinations in relation to suppliers' record keeping, publishing and reporting obligations under the Competition and Consumer (Gas Market Code) Regulations 2023.

The Competition and Consumer (Gas Market Code) (Subsections 33(3), 34(3), 34(7) and 35(3)) Determinations 2023 was registered on the Federal Register of Legislation on 20 December 2023. The instrument is effective from 1 April 2024.

Note: As at 1 October 2026, all gas produced by Arrow Energy from its production leases is committed for supply under existing gas supply agreements. For this reason, Arrow Energy does not have uncontracted regulated gas that is likely to be available or intended to be the subject of any EOIs, gas initial offers or gas final offers. In certain circumstances, volumes that are unable to be taken under the terms of existing gas supply agreements (for example, due to buyer permitted interruptions) may become available for Arrow Energy to offer for supply from time to time, including via offers or trades on gas supply hubs or transaction notices under master gas supply agreements. Arrow Energy is unable to estimate such volumes, given the range of factors that may cause such volumes to become available from time to time.

Note: The information in Part A of this table represents an aggregated position that covers Arrow Energy Holdings Pty Ltd and each of its related bodies corporate (within the definition of the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth)) that is a covered supplier for the purposes of the Gas Code. The information in Part A applies to those entities collectively and each individually.
